NORWALK COUNTY PROVIDES WAKEMAN FUNDS

Special to the Star-Journal.
NORWALK, March 25—When the community of Wakeman obtained a divorce from Wakeman and became a full-fledged village, officials realized that no provision had been made for obtaining the necessary funds to finance the municipal machinery.

The village officials have, therefore, asked Judge J. M. Bechtol for temporary alimony to tide over the new town until funds can be raised from taxes. The court allowed them $2,000.

WILLARD FIGHTS JUNKING.
The threat of the Willard council to prevent the Wilkoff syndicate from dismantling the South Line property in that town has brought out the fact that when the abandoned traction system was offered at private sale recently, the federal court of Toledo granted an injunction restraining any municipality from interfering with the junk concern. The Wilkoff company refused to consider bidding for the South Line unless such an injunction was granted.

Taylor's Last Film Shows Skill

Betty Compton does better work in "The Green Temptation" than in any film since "The Miracle Man."

By JAMES W. DEAN.
NEW YORK, March 25—Chief interest in "The Green Temptation," just released, lies in the fact that it represents William D. Taylor's last contribution to the art of the cinema.

"The Green Temptation" approximates technical perfection. Taylor at the time of his death had become a master of lighting and of pictorial composition. He belonged to the Cecil De Mille school of direction.

Great care is shown in the arrangement of the smallest details in furnishings. Figures are side-lighted. Lights are placed in out-of-the-way places to accentuate details of decoration that would otherwise be overlooked.

There are arguments for and against this technique. Detailed lighting gives greater pictorial quality to photoplays. It also diverts attention from the action of the story. This latter result lessens the dramatic value.

Taylor was more of an artist than a dramatic director. "The Green Temptation" lacks proper tempo. The story is essentially melodrama. All successfully melodramas I have seen on the stage or screen have moved in swift, certain time. Most of them gained momentum as the plot unfolded.

Taylor allowed action in his film to lag. Except for the beauty of Betty Compton, long stretches of the film had no entertainment value.

At the last there is a sudden speeding up of the action. The villain corners Betty and the hero. He

Fair Boys and Director Taber Planned Concession 'Clean-up'

A "clean up" of conditions at county fairs, especially as relates to concessions, is promised as a result of co-operation between the Ohio Fair Boys, a state organization, and the state department of agriculture.

This year a strong effort will be made to prevent the appearance of objectionable "girl shows" and gambling concessions.

At a meeting of a special committee of the Ohio Fair Boys in Columbus this week, L. J. Taber, director of agriculture, announced that he would proceed under present laws and existing authority to attempt to regulate concessions, and that he will send a letter to every fair board in the state, calling attention to requirements.

John E. Bragg of Parkertown is a member of the committee of five named at the Findlay convention of the Ohio Fair Boys to consider the matter of standardizing fair concessions. At the January meeting in Columbus, this committee submitted the following report, which was adopted:

"Recognizing that concessions have a direct bearing on attendance as well as being an important method of financing the fair; the committee on standardization of concessions recommend that concessionaires properly accredited shall be encouraged.

"The committee also recognized that there are many concessions now permitted on fair grounds that are lowering the standard of fairs and that are seriously detracting from the real value of the exhibits.

"To the end that all concessions shall be on a par with the purpose of the fair, we recommend that the Ohio Fair Boys association approve a recommendation to the state board of agriculture, to license concessionaires under a plan to be worked out by the department of agriculture and a committee of the Ohio Fair Boys association."

Director Taber said at the meeting this week that the time was too short to arrange for licensing the concessionaires, but said he believed the situation could be controlled under existing laws. He said he will expect fair managers to live up to rules and requirements.

Fourteen states already have refused financial assistance to the move for a George Washington and World War Memorial building in Washington, D. ## BETTER BUILDING TRADE IS SHOWN Permits Increase in Number; Mostly for Repairs and Garages.

That there is an increase in building operations here is seen by the fact that 23 building permits have been issued at the city engineer's office so far this month, more than were issued during the entire month of February. Very few of the permits are for the erection of new buildings, the most of them being for repair work, additions and garages.

Plumbing Inspector Scheib says that business is picking up in his department and that much repair work is being done as well as considerable new work. A great amount of sewer work is also being done here at present.

The following building permits were issued Saturday: Oscar Slek, garage, Perry-st. $50; William Lor, open garage on Perry-st. $50; Mrs. Alvena Weell, frame building on Austin-st. $1,000.

EARTH'S GREAT JUBILEE

BY
GILES R. VAN HYNING
Representing Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

AT CARNEGIE MUSIC HALL Sunday, March 26, 3 P. M.

DO YOU know that Israel's Jubilee year when broken families were reunited and former possessions restored, was typical of the GREAT RESTORATION, (Acts 3, 19-21) which would open with sweeping reforms, with the recognition of liberties, rights and possessions long lost sight of. That the awakening and demands of the people are all parts of the unavoidable Jubilee excitement occasioned by the ignorance and oppression of the past. That mankind has already entered this wonderful day since 1874 and that we are actually sweeping into the GOLDEN AGE OF PROPHECY when man is to receive his original inheritance, the DOMINION OF EARTH. A Lecture for our day it truly is.
